Finding out you have cancer

About this easy read booklet

This booklet is about finding out you have cancer.

You can learn about what will happen when you find out you have cancer.

If you are worried about your health, you should talk to a doctor or nurse.

Finding out you have cancer

If tests have found that you have cancer, your doctor will explain the type of cancer you have.

Cancer may also be called a tumour or a malignant lump. This is a lump in your body that should not be there. Not all tumours are cancer.

Malignant means that the lump is cancer and is harmful to the body.

The doctor, nurses and the people who support you can help you to understand what your diagnosis means and what will happen next.

A diagnosis is finding out whether you have an illness or not.

The doctor will explain about the different ways to treat cancer. It can be hard to understand all the things the doctor will tell you.

It can be scary to find out you have cancer. You may be worried about what will happen to you.

Even though cancer is a serious illness, there are lots of people and treatments that can help you.

You might need some time to think about it all. Talking to someone may also help.

If you want to talk about cancer, your doctor or nurse can help. They can answer your questions and help with any worries you have.

You can also talk to Macmillan about cancer. You can call us free on 0808 808 00 00 7 days a week from 8am to 8pm.

How Macmillan can help you
